Each employee has one official personnel file, which is private, accurate, complete, and permanent.

Each employee has the right to inspect his or her personnel file pursuant to the Labor Code. The review shall take place during normal business hours and the employee shall be released from duty for this purpose without any salary reduction. This review shall be in the presence of an Employment Services representative.

All attempts will be made to produce the personnel file immediately upon request, and it will be made available within three working days of the employee's written request to review his/her personnel file.

Information of a derogatory nature shall not be entered into an employee's personnel records unless and until the employee is given notice and an opportunity to review and comment on that information. The employee shall have the right to have his or her own comments attached to any derogatory statement.

The employee is entitled to one copy of his/her personnel records at no cost per twelve-month period. Subsequent copies may be provided for a minimal copying fee.

Nothing in this procedure shall entitle an employee to review ratings, reports, or records that (a) were obtained prior to the employment of the person involved, (b) were prepared by identifiable examination committee members, or (c) were obtained in connection with a promotional examination or review.

Further information on employee rights regarding personnel files can be found in the respective employee collective bargaining agreement.
