

A New Cuyamaca College President
June 6, 2023

Dear Colleagues,

It gives me great pride to announce that Cuyamaca College alumna, Dr. Jessica Robinson, has been selected to serve as the seventh president of Cuyamaca College, after a nationwide search involving broad representation of both internal and external constituents.

Jessica is a passionate, equity-minded leader with more than 20 years of experience in higher education, including more than four years as the Vice President of Student Services at Cuyamaca College. She has demonstrated a deep commitment to social justice, student success and equitable access not only at Cuyamaca College but in her former leadership roles at San Diego State University.

Jessica is passionate about her work and about Cuyamaca College. She often shares her experience as a first-time student at Cuyamaca College and proudly boasts that the college changed her life.

Jessica brings many strengths to this role including her strong commitment to participatory governance, her collaborative leadership style, and extensive experience with strategic and facilities planning, accreditation, program development, fiscal planning, as well as development of a variety of student support services.

Jessica has a Doctor of Education in Educational Leadership/Post-Secondary Education/Community College Emphasis from San Diego State University; a Master of Social Work-Administration Concentration from San Diego State University; and a Bachelor of Arts in Liberal Arts and Sciences/Social Work from San Diego State University.

Please join me in congratulating Dr. Jessica Robinson on being selected for this important leadership role. I am confident she has the passion and commitment to lead Cuyamaca College into the future.

She is expected to begin serving as the permanent president on July 3.

Sincerely,

Lynn
